Cropston Education Centre

Due to a technological upgrade to the water treatment works, we are no longer able to offer a full tour of the works. Currently, we can however, offer a half day set of activities focused on water efficiency or alternatively we can come and visit you. As the water treatment tours are no longer possible, the Education Centre will close at the end of July. However, we will still be able to offer outreach sessions for groups around the Leicestershire area.

Barston Education Centre

Following a review of our education programme Barston Education Centre closed at the end of March. Severn Trent Water would like to thank the many schools that have visited these centres. Education centres at Hayden (Gloucestershire) and Derby will remain operational. We can still provide outreach sessions for groups in the West Midlands area.

Derby Education Centre

Stoke Bardolph Education Centre was closed for visitors in July 2009 due to a multi-million pound, six-year construction programme to improve the works. The new Education Centre at Derby provides tours of the sewage treatment works as well as offering an outreach programme into the areas of Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire.

We remain committed to delivering education to our customers and communities, so we would like to bring your attention to the exciting educational opportunities now on offer. These are free of charge to schools and community groups in the Severn Trent Water region. As part of our outreach programme, we can visit your school or community group to reinforce messages about sustainability and wasting less water. This work involves memorable and participative assemblies and classroom activities linked to the curriculum.

If you are interested in booking an outreach session please contact: waterefficiency@severntrent.co.uk

Severn Trent Water has developed a new educational website which has information on water and waste water treatment processes, ways to save water as well as educational resources to download. The site also has an interactive water audit tool that enables you to determine how much water is being used at home or in school. You can visit the website at: www.stwatereducation.co.uk
