

Get crafty this Christmas....

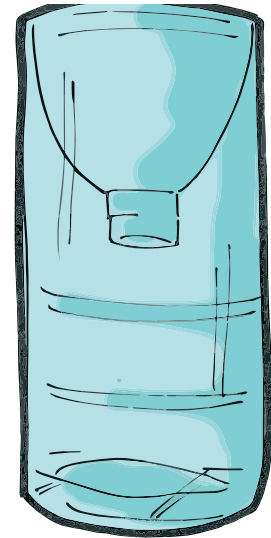

Make a Christmas themed fat collector

What you'll need:

- An old plastic bottle
- Glue (PVA craft glue or a glue stick)
- Decorations (like felt, pipes, pom poms, goggly eyes)

What to do:

1. Clean and remove any labels
2. Cut the bottle about a third of the way up
3. Get the top bit and put it upside down in the bottom bit of the bottle (you don't need the lid)
4. Decorate your new fat collector with a Christmas theme - why not make a Santa, Reindeer, Elf or Snowman? You could even include a message telling people to put used cooking fats, oils and greases in it, instead of down the sink.

Why make a fat collector?

Christmas dinners create a lots of excess fats, oils and grease, which when poured down the sink can harden over time and create a big ball of fat in the sewers (ewww!) this can then cause blocked pipes!

Once the fat's oils and grease have cooled down, they can be poured in to a container - just like your fat collector - and once full, scraped out into the bin.
